“ Grandpa was one of a kind to say the least. Very stubborn which was passed down to almost everyone in the family. One thing I’m glad that wasn’t passed down was his darn wolf mask! He would always chase all us grand kids around in that scaring us to no extreme. I remember one time when I was over to grandma and grandpas an I was coming out of the bathroom and guess what was on the other side? You guessed it..grandpa in his mask! All I remember is slamming the door in his face then hearing him yell because his face was a little to close! I also remember too that anytime he would kiss grandma I would get so mad I would run off and hide because no one kisses my grandma :) I could go on all day telling stories about growing up with grandpa.

Words can’t describe the emotions I’m still feeling. Grandpa put up a strong fight for 7 years. I remember everytime I would talk to him he would always say “ I’m ready to be with ma” my response, “when she’s ready, you will know”. I guess grandma was ready for grandpa to come home even though we weren’t so ready yet! He may be gone but he will never be forgotten. He is finally home, he’s happy, he is at peace and with the love of his life. Grandpa, I miss you everyday and my love for you will never end! Give grandma a big ol hug an kiss for me and smack them boys in the head. Rest In Peace Grandpa I love you!
