Sarah is survived by her husband, Robert; children, Robert (Tammy) Sanderson, Christine (Robert) Malatinsky; grandchildren, Sandra, Jeffery, Leland, Cody; great-grandchildren, Ellora, Nikolia, Leo; siblings, Shirley Herrod, Linda Thomas, Nora Losco, Barbara Losco, Kathy Thomas. She was predeceased by her parents and brother, Walter Roman Jr.

“ Sarah, or Ann as she was known to her friends, was a wonderful example of who Jesus wants us to be. She was loved by so many. Ann and I had a special relationship. We called each other "besties" because we were best friends, as close as sisters. We went to movies together. We cried together. We laughed together, sometimes so hard we almost "soiled" ourselves. We went to the beauty school to have our hair done together. She always had the same thing done. I usually had several shades of brown, red, and blonde. We laughed about that. Either she drove or I drove and she told me where to turn. I never did learn my way around Lansing. We went to breakfast to the Amish kitchen out on Vermontville Hwy together. We just loved "getting out" and being with each other. That is, until her illness took its toll. I am going to really miss her, as are many many more. She is with Jesus now and out of pain, with a new body.

“ NMCLANT Det Mayport and Component Panama City purchased the Serene Retreat for the family of Sarah Ann Sanderson.

“ Every place we went, as a child, during my parents meeting trips or family reunions, we'd always take side adventures. We'd go see a place of significance, stop some where woody, have a lunch or dinner picnic and stroll the area around us. We'd go "hiking" or "nature walking". Looking and learning about different bugs, leaves, trees, etc. She is the reason I got involved with crickets so much, that my father gave me that nickname.

I will miss you, Mom, yet, I will also do my best to carry you with me, anywhere and everywhere.

I Love You, Mom!

“ A very kind and thoughtful lady, we shared many conversations that could have solved world problem and tiny little problems. I always enjoy our talks and her wonderful heart and smile. My sincere condolences. I'm out of state and unable to be there. You are all in my thoughts and prayers. Peggy
