“ Sorry to hear the bad news. Harold was a super good guy, would do anything to help anyone out. I went to school with Harold and Val and both were great people. My brother Dale was a closer friend to both of them, but Harold and I were in the 9th grade together and sat in Mr. Paynes math class and we both enjoyed cheating on our test..LOL. He will be missed that's for sure. Jeff & Linda.

“ Harold Peck Jr. or as I know him as (uncle) Jr. You can't mention Jr. without mentioning his other half/soulmate (aunt) Valerie Peck ❤️ Jr & Val. You could always stop over to their house anytime. The only time to stay quiet was when the numbers came on at 7:27ish. I grew up knowing Jr. as the toughest and strongest man on the planet as he proved to be time and time again. He would give you anything you needed even his last dollar because he taught me that a man's word means everything. When my mom ever needed backup he was the guy she brought m. He was the guy you'd call when you're broke down or stuck. Even when he got older if he couldn't help ya he'd be in the passenger seat of the truck of the person he brought to help. Not many guys spent all day cutting wood for someone else. The man could spot a Morel mushroom driving 30mph down a dirt road and even head shot a Rabbit with one hit, but he couldn't see the digital numbers on his cordless phone lol. One of my best friends since I was a young man. He was the guy to always have a joke and be quick with a come back and that is what got me and my brother started . He could always make a room shout out with laughter and always did. He could eat more food than a Grizzly bear out of hibernation. It was impressive. It saddens to see you go uncle Jr. but the thought of you sitting next to Val listening to the oldies on F.M. radio brings a tear to my eye and a smile to my heart as I know you both were always “1”
Fly high uncle Jr. You made some amazing kids who made some amazing grand kids and I know you're proud.
