ME

“ The first time I met Jenny I was riding my horse down The road and I saw a little girl with long blonde hair playing on a big pile of rocks. She asked if she could pet my horse. When I asked her what her name was she said “Jenny” I then I invited her down to ride my horse . After that I could never get rid of her! Lol! I’m so glad that me and my husband Bruce reconnected with Jenny on two occasions last year. It was nice seeing what a beautiful woman she had turned into. She will be missed. Bruce and Melissa

“ I’m so glad we reconnected. I wish so much that we had more time. We had so many deep and meaningful conversations, Jen. You were a big part of my own spiritual and intellectual awakening. Which probably changed the entire trajectory of my life. You always could think way out of the box with thought provoking questions. I’m going to miss you so much. I loved how we always shared articles and memes constantly. I loved the phone conversations we had and then said goodbye 4 times, before we actually said goodbye, an hour later. You were just amazing at communicating with people. You had an electric personality that just makes everyone want to be near you and feel good. The party starts when Jen arrives.

Thank you for always encouraging me to fight for what I believe in and for truth and justice.

I’m going to keep doing what I do, because I know that you would want me to and I know you’re still with me. I love you. ❤️
