“ To the only person I ever knew as dad from the time I was 2 yrs. old, thank you for accepting me into your family with open arms and giving me a family with brothers and sisters who I cherish with all my heart.

Thank you for teaching me life lessons like work ethic, how to stand up for myself, forgiveness and that we may not have had all the things we wanted but we always had everything we needed.

Thank you for your infectious laugh, those serious dance moves and "how to scare your children 101" I still use those tactics on my kids to this day 😂😂😂

May your struggles and burdens be no more now that the good lord has you in his arms.

Know that you are loved and will be greatly missed always.

-your daughter

Dad it's hard for me to imagine never hearing your voice again or seeing you walk through my door. I'm not as strong as you think I am Dad....I just was not ready!

People say to me that their sorry for my loss & wish it wouldn't have happened on my Birthday. No matter what day it was it sucked!! I think of my Birthday totally differently now, 6/2/64 you watched me take my 1st breath in life. & 6/2/16 I watched you take your last breath.

I had a dream early this morning at 5am. I seen a very bright light, through that light I seen your face with a smile.you were waving to me. I then had such an over whelming feeling of peace. I knew you were okay.....

My day began from that moment.

I will always Love you Dad💙
