“Marty and his family grew up down the street from me. Was younger than me. We lost touch until Stacey and I found each other. Love hearing her tell me things I have missed over the years. Then she talked about her mom and sister pass. Kim was closer to my age. I was hurt to hear all of this. But last Sunday she posted pics of Marty. He looked good and happy. All three of the Blizzards will be missed. Nieborhood friends are the best. They are like your family.
