“ You were one of the greatest. You always knew just what to say. One of the funniest times I remember with you was your description of this fight you got in. You had the funniest way of telling stories. The hand movements and face gestures were priceless. You'll never be forgotten. wish we got to spend more time together. Love you -forever your cousin

“ Missy..I have only seen you in passing recently, however before I left MI I remember coming to your house and going down the road to the "cat" ladies house and rescuing cats and cleaning the stuff from their eyes..I wish I had got back in contact with since returning home ..from the pics and posts I have seen, you seem to have become a caring,loving and beautiful Mother,Friend to all you came in contact with. You will truly be missed but never forgotten by so many. R.I.P. Missy!!

“ It seems like just yesterday that we were kids running around causing trouble. Playing Dukes of Hazard and Hee-Man. Riding bikes through the streets of Nashville. And horses through the woods. We were always together growing up. You will be truly missed Missy Moo Moo. I love you so very much and I hope to see you again someday.

“ How do you choose just one memory from a person so full of life. Every memory I have of her is a good one. I suppose one of my favorites, and one of hers too, was that I use to have this little miniature pincher dog, Missy thought it would be funny to feed it fruity pebbles, not just one or two, a whole handful, I've never seen her laugh so hard as watching that little dog get each and every single one off of my living room floor. It was "a tiny dog on doggie steroids" as she put it. I miss just cruising with her in my car, her complaining about my radio station. She dominated a room without even having to try, her exhuberant personality was so contagious, it was always a fun time, no matter what we were doing, when she was around. I'll miss my dear friend and am truly lucky to have known her.

“ Missy I don't know what to say or do right now. My heart hurts so bad right now, but it gives me piece of mind knowing that you are up there with Erica. I will do everything I can for your babies and Jeremy. Although keegan never got to meet you, please know that stacie and I will make sure that he knows you. Your smile will live on through your girls. Every time they smile I will see you. I love you so much sis. Till we meet again.

“ Missy you are a great person inside and out. You had the deepest compassion for your kids and loved them so much! Remember the two summers I lived across the road from you and there was not a day that went by we weren't at your house swimming or at the lake with the kids. We got close them 2 years. Now I regret every second I didn't tell you how proud of you I was for coming so far an trying to get back your life and embrace every second I could have had with you! We drifted apart in the physical life but emotionally I knew you were always there and you knew I was for you!!! The random visits after months of not talking an making the best of what we had and who we had with us! All I can say is you lived a great life and deserved so much more time with us! I love you missy and until we meet again rest in paradise....

“ Deepest sympathy to the family. Missy and I didn't always get along but everything always got worked out. She was persistent in keeping our friendship working. She always called me her stepmom even though at first I didn't like it because it sounded weird, I grew to like the title. The shopping trips we took together she would leave me in 10 seconds flat. Always energetic and on the move to visit all her friends. I hope my son will always remember how much she loved her "little brother". Love you, miss you
