

Nancy Katherine Kuhl

February 9, 1938 - January 12, 2023

Nancy Katherine Kuhl, 84, of Bellevue, died peacefully on Thursday, January 12, 2023. Nancy was born February 9, 1938 in Rogers City, MI, the daughter of Norman Otto Johann and Helen Mary (Mills) Dullack. She received her Bachelors of Science degree from Central Michigan University and achieved certification as a reading specialist. She married the love of her life, Darwin Kuhl on September 13, 1958. Nancy taught reading from 1966-1969 in Albion Schools before retiring to care for her family. Teaching children would remain a central and vital part of Nancy's entire life. Along with her own four children, she opened a home care and raised over 20 children as her own. Many of these young people remained close to her to the end.

Another pinnacle passion of Nancy's was time spent in nature hiking with her husband, Darwin. Darwin and Nancy travelled the world together and hiked trails from the Grand Canyon to the hills of Scotland. Growing up, Nancy learned to identify hundreds of variety of flowers from her grandmother, a talent she employed on every hike. She also spent time in her childhood alongside her great-grandmother, who taught her to weave and churn butter. Nancy and Darwin's travels often took them west, where they wintered in Utah, and north to Canada to explore the Hudson Bay, which was a lifelong dream of Nancy's. Family was always the most important part of Nancy's life.

Nancy is survived by her husband of 65 years, Rev. Darwin Kuhl; their children, Elisabeth (Terry) Fish, Richard (Regina) Kuhl, and Anne Victoria "Tori" (Jeff) Dickens; daughter-in-law, Badrina Kuhl; grandchildren, Michael Kuhl, William Kuhl, Kerri (Jared) McCain, Katherine Dickens, Jacob Dickens, and Nick Kuhl; great-grandchildren, Desmond and Rae McCain; and her brother, Karl Dullack.
