“ I worked with Roo and when our scheduler was on vacation and I filled in I was always hoping that Roo knew where he was going because I didn't want to have make a map. He would giggle and tell me he needed a map, even if he didn't need one. I actually sent him in the wrong direction one time. I will miss his beautiful smile.

“ It's been a lot of years since I talked to Roo, but one thing that doesn't change about people is a kind heart. Back in 9th grade, he made a fake "newspaper" for me, to try to cheer me up during a really difficult time in my life. I found it a few years back tucked in my yearbook. He didn't know what I was going through, but he cared enough to do something funny, and remind me there are good things in life as well as the bad.

My heart goes out to his family, it's far too soon to lose a good soul.
