“ Seth was an amazing brother in law. He was smart, funny, witty, and always seen the good in what life had to offer. Most of all he was the best uncle to his nephew Kylan. He loved him so much, and Kylan loved him very much as well. He is very loved, and he will be greatly missed. The house just doesn't feel right without his presence. I keep expecting him to just show up and make some kind of joke. It is still unbelievable... I love you Seth. You were the best brother in law a somebody could have!

“ I had the privilege of being Seth's 4th grade teacher. I remember his smile and great attitude. He always worked hard in class and was well liked among classmates and staff. Seth was the kind of student who was nice to everyone. He walked into my classroom with a smile everyday. He loved his family and looked up to his brothers. I'm so saddened by this news. My heartfelt condolences to Tracy, Nate and Jeremiah.

“ I met Seth when he was nine he was such an amazing little guy, he could say the funniest things that were so off the wall , yet in reality they made so much sence. You will be missed by many Seth you were a very kind, gentle soul just like your Dad was. I will always remember you.

“ Seth was an amazing, charismatic, extremely intelligent guy. I have known him since he was probably 10 years old, when I started hanging out with Nate when I was 14. Later on I was in charge of the high school co-op students at Spartan Motors and Seth was one of them. He was caring, respectful, funny, and willing to get the job done. He always had something to say to crack me up. I always felt like life was too easy for him and I only say that because of how intelligent he was. He definitely had a ton of potential. I am so sorry and saddened by the loss of Seth VanderMoere. I will be thinking of his family during this time. Rest well my friend.

“ Tracy, I am sorry for your loss. I didn't know anything happen. I went to obituary on my email and his name pop up. Now, he is with the Lord and Lynn jr. How have you been? God has us on his list. So, we should love one another every day. I miss bugs a lot. I saw scott a few years ago. I just had neck surgery a few mo's ago. I work at Lcc here in Lansing. When you look back in the sand or dirt, you will see foot prints that God is carrying you through this tuff time. Plus, your son, lynn or whoever you lost are some where in a good place and will always be near you when you feel lonely. I have always love the vandermore family and you too. love Daryl.
